CITY

Apply the revenues of the municipal power plant to develop the industrial and social resources of Hope.
Move city government in 1930, and improved sanitary conditions in the city and business back-wards.

COUNTY

A county highway program providing for the construction of a main trunk line of all-weather road each year, to gradually reduce the dirt road mileage.
Provide economic support for every scientific agricultural program which offers practical benefits to Hempstead county's greatest industry.

STATE

Continued progress on the state highway program.
Pursue tax reform, and a more efficient government through the budget system of expenditures.
Free Arkansas from the cattle tick.

100,000 Population

GREATER Little Rock—North Little Rock and Little Rock will be shown in the 1930 census as a community of more than 100,000 population, the count Wednesday evening, in the office of Osro Cobb, district supervisor, having reached the total of 100,064—with the enumerators to continue their work until the books closed Saturday.

While a check at Washington may show a few duplications, Mr. Cobb says, he appears to feel sure that such deductions will not bring the total below 100,000.

Assuming that Little Rock's total, in round numbers, is 80,700 and that of North Little Rock is 19,300—when the final total is written—we can make some comparisons and draw some reasonably safe conclusions.

The 1920 census gave Little Rock a total of 65,142 while in 1910 we were credited with having 45,941 residents. This means that during the last decade our population has increased nearly 15,000 in ten years and more than 34,000 within 20 years.

North Little Rock ten years ago has a population of 14,048 and in 1910 a total of 11,138. Today the total is approximately 19,300 which means that the increase in the two decades has been about 3,000 and 5,000 respectively.

The first evident conclusion is that Greater Little Rock is a community which has neither boom nor slump in its population. The chart may show "ups and downs," periodic increases and decreases, but the "long pull" shows that it is growing at a definite rate of development.

The steady growth has been the result of factors which have not varied nor will they vary in the future to any great extent. We have been spared conditions such as existed in cities like Lowell, Mass., which has suffered a decrease of 11.5 per cent within the last 10 years because of the removal of many of its textile industries and barely remains in the 100,000 class.

During the last decade the prosperity of the rank and file of the citizenship has kept abreast of the growth of population as evidenced by comparative bank statements. We have poor folks—so have all cities—but we have no sweat shops, no concentration of laboring people in slums. We have followed no plan of development—we say it regretfully—but the last 10 years have brought millions of dollars worth of improvements and another decade should bring more.

Greater Little Rock has become a community in the 100,000 class and as such should make its plans for the future. —Arkansas Democrat.

A Billion and a Half For Roads

DURING 1930, the state and their counties will spend over $1,601,000,000 for highway improvements, $250,000,000 more than in 1929.

According to the department of Agriculture, $663,667,000 of this will be spent on local roads and bridges and the balance on state highways. Officials of 45 states estimate the total length of roads to receive attention as 32,532 miles.

At present our greatest need is the construction of feeder or farm-to-market highways. The American Farm Bureau Federation has been a leader in an aggressive campaign to obtain for the farmer the year-round, hard-surfaced roads that, as one of our foremost producers and taxpayers, he deserves. So long as a great majority of farmers are cut off from their markets during many months of the year because of impassable roads, agricultural progress must be retarded.

If our vast road building appropriations are fairly and efficiently used, with the aim of obtaining the best possible results, adequate feeder roads can be built without burdening the taxpayer. Every state should adopt a program for constructing five, ten or fifteen miles of farm-to-market road for every mile of main highway.

The United States has four times the number of automobiles of all the rest of the world combined, and less than half of the world's mileage. Our good roads movement is just getting well started.—Camden News.

Daily WASHINGTON LETTER

BY RODNEY DUTCHER

NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—Your correspondent has just taken a good close squint at President Hoover to confirm common belief that he has been looking much poorer and older after more than a year in office, what with all his troubles. Report: Not especially apparent, although his hair has grown quite silvery, an obvious change.

The executive offices, remodeled since the White House fire, are much handsomer. The most striking improvement is in the lighting fixtures, although there's a handsome new set of black leather furniture. The dozen wall lights in Hoover's private office now rest in large, upturned domes and are supported by long, scabard-like pieces of highly polished nickel matching the Hoover hair. The shining chandelier in the center is equally modernistic, with a flat frosted circular surface a yard in diameter through which the light filters.

Trimings and suspension are in nickel except for a large golden eagle decorating the suspension about a foot above the chandelier itself. Beneath the frosted surface hangs a many-faceted crystal ball about three inches in diameter. The new cabinet room lighting is even more modern. Two ceiling light clusters are set against mirrors reflecting down on the cabinet table and fringed with crystal tassels. Wall lights are set behind frosted circular panes inset into gilded frames featuring other golden eagles.

Mrs. E. P. Hamilton returned last night from a visit to Little Rock.

WELL, somebody reads this stuff, anyway.

And it turns out to be none other than the Hon. Cole L. Blease, senator from South Carolina, a fact which your correspondent acknowledges with pleased blushes. The mails brought this:

"Dear sir: I notice in the Columbia (S. C.) Record, of Tuesday, April 15th, an article on the front page, signed by you, in which you state, speaking of Senator E. D. Smith of South Carolina: 'He was the one Democratic senator who refused to vote for an increased duty on anything.'"

"Will you please point out to me where I voted for any tariff on any article, either high or low? I will thank you for this information."

"I shall withhold my reply in the Senate to this article in the Columbia Record for a reasonable time, awaiting your reply. Very respectfully, Cole L. Blease."

Subsequent mails carried this reply:

"Dear Senator Blease: The only information I have concerning your votes for tariff increases is to be found on Page 4027 of the Congressional Record for Feb. 18 and on Page 4075 of the Congressional Record for Feb. 19. It appears that you voted for the Connally amendment to raise the duty on hides and for the Hayden amendment to raise the duty on dates in packages. Trusting that this is the information desired. Cordially yours, . . ."

Anyway, Senator Blease came within two votes of matching the record of Senator Smith.

Announcing

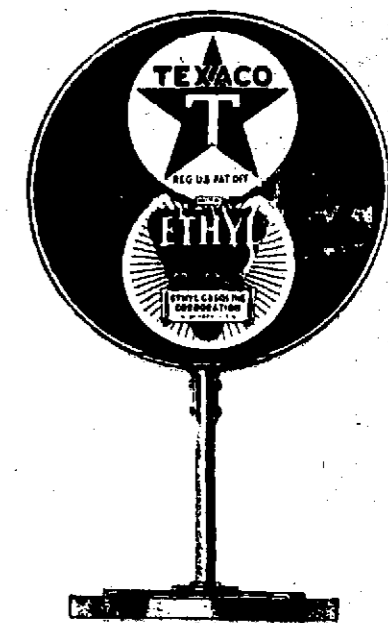

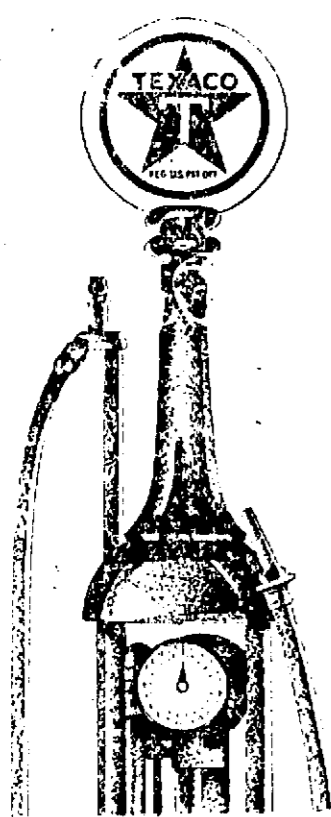

TEXACO-ETHYL

THE "DRY" ETHYL GASOLINE

The Texas Company announces that now Texaco, the original "dry" gas, is available with the Ethyl compound. It means the linking of two famous names in motor fuels to produce one of the finest premium anti-knock gasolines ever offered the motoring public—Texaco-Ethyl!

The Ethyl compound in itself cannot perform miracles. It's the gasoline base that makes the difference in Ethyls. The better the fuel you begin with, the better the resulting Ethyl Gasoline.

The new and better Texaco, the original "dry" gas that vaporizes instantly, plus Ethyl, equals the last word in automobile fuels. Texaco, the drier of dry gases, permits complete and uniform diffusion of Ethyl through the manifold into the cylinders. It creates higher standards of pick-up, power, speed and mileage for any car, old or new. This new premium grade is now available at Texaco Service Stations to all motorists who desire a superior anti-knock gasoline. Try it today!

Young 'Em in There'
 One of the interested spectators at the Schmeling fight was Jack Sharkey, the Boston squire. At one point in the battle, Paulino sank one of Max's tumblers and the German winced.

Sharkey, said Sharkey, halt to the fight. He can't take 'em in there. If he ever got a chance to knock him in there, he'll jump out of there.

Which reminds one of the legend that Sharkey, never could get 'em in there. Other than that, he was funny at that if both of them should jump out of the ring.

The Shows of Yesteryear
 While Stengel and Cutler are the shows of yesteryear, the shows of today are the shows of tomorrow.

At the present stages of his career, Burleigh Grimes was traded from Brooklyn to the New York Giants in a three-cornered deal involving, among others, the following:

On Jan. 5, 1918, Burleigh Grimes was traded from Pittsburgh to Brooklyn, with Ward and Marmora, for Stengel, Cutler and cash.

In 1926, Burleigh Grimes was traded from Brooklyn to the New York Giants in a three-cornered deal involving, among others, the following:

On Jan. 5, 1918, Burleigh Grimes was traded from Pittsburgh to Brooklyn, with Ward and Marmora, for Stengel, Cutler and cash.

The 'Good Old Days'
 NOWADAYS whenever you bring up the subject of a phoney fight, such as the recent Carnera-Chavez episode on the coast, the Old Guard can be depended upon to bring up the olden, golden days when fighters really were on the up and up and fought honestly until one of them fell by the wayside. But, out of the misty past, come echoes now and then of affairs that were not all so rosy. One of these persists—one of the meetings of Jimmy Britt and Joe Gans.

It was the first meeting between the pair, and it was arranged to give Britt a break, even though Gans was to take the decision on a foul. Gans allowed Britt to outpoint him for four and a half rounds. Then Britt sank one below Joe's belt line. Gans was awarded the fight on a foul.

Later, when Gans and his manager parted in anger, Gans let the story out. Britt became steamed up by the Gans tale and agreed to meet Joe again to prove he could take him.

And Gans murdered Jimmy Britt for six rounds, forcing him to quit. It was in that fight that Britt claimed he had broken his "ulna bone" when Gans blocked a punch with his elbow.

Flowers, Dougan Fight To A Draw
 Much Action Seen in 23-Round Boxing Show at Rink Last Night

At the weekly boxing show staged at the skating rink last night, Hope fight fans received their money's worth when they saw Erius Flowers, of Little Rock, and LeRoy Dougan, of Blytheville, fight to a ten round draw in the main event of the boxing card. Four preliminaries were held previous to the feature bout, and a big battle royal also was an attraction which was greatly enjoyed, five small negroes taking part in the affair.

In the fourth round of the main event, Dougan went down for a count of nine after Flowers had landed a hard right to the face of the little fighter. Dougan came back strong in the next round, however, and sent Flowers to the floor with a straight jab to the jaw. The two fighters staged their best round in the eight when both caught their second wind and came out of their corners fighting. Many a blow was exchanged in this round, and the crowd became much enthused. The next round was fairly good, and the tenth and last was filled with action.

As a curtain raiser promoters Robins and Campbell opened the show with a battle royal, followed by a three round fight between Fred Walker, of Hope, and Erle Johnson of Blytheville. The two exchanged some hard blows with Johnson winning the decision.

The next fight which was a good one was between Bert Mauldin of this city, who made his first appearance in the ring for Hope fans, and proved to be the winner over Jim Stroud, also of this city. Mauldin showed some good boxing form and carries a mighty punch.

The two other preliminary battles were staged between negro fighters in two 3-minute engagements. Promoter Robins announced last night that Johnny Hall, of Little Rock is matched with a black from St.

This Derby Entry Is Busy

It's the busy season down around Louisville and Churchill Downs and one of the reasons is Busy, a three-year-old chestnut colt owned by J. B. Rogers. Busy is the only Derby entry from the Reppess stable. He is the son of Busy American and Peach Blow.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

THE $100,000 international race proposed for Arlington park, Chicago, this summer, will be abandoned unless three horses from England, Ireland or continental Europe come over. Chris Fitzgerald, chief steward at Arlington, has been in Europe a couple of weeks whooping up the race and says he thinks Cacao, Palais Royal, Othello and Athford will be shipped.

John D. Hertz says Reigh Count will not compete. Wonder how Manager Robert Shawkey felt when he observed in the newspapers the other day that Lefty "Meathead" Heimach, whom he sent to Toledo in the spring, had pitched a two-hit game against the Kansas City entry.

This Bill Hallahan of the Cardinals has a lot of the old smoke, but he has been pretty wild to date. Well, Lefty Grove used to be wild, too, and so was Babe Ruth, my dears.

days when fighters really were on the up and up and fought honestly until one of them fell by the wayside. But, out of the misty past, come echoes now and then of affairs that were not all so rosy. One of these persists—one of the meetings of Jimmy Britt and Joe Gans.

It was the first meeting between the pair, and it was arranged to give Britt a break, even though Gans was to take the decision on a foul. Gans allowed Britt to outpoint him for four and a half rounds. Then Britt sank one below Joe's belt line. Gans was awarded the fight on a foul.

Later, when Gans and his manager parted in anger, Gans let the story out. Britt became steamed up by the Gans tale and agreed to meet Joe again to prove he could take him.

And Gans murdered Jimmy Britt for six rounds, forcing him to quit. It was in that fight that Britt claimed he had broken his "ulna bone" when Gans blocked a punch with his elbow.

Flowers to the floor with a straight jab to the jaw. The two fighters staged their best round in the eight when both caught their second wind and came out of their corners fighting. Many a blow was exchanged in this round, and the crowd became much enthused. The next round was fairly good, and the tenth and last was filled with action.

As a curtain raiser promoters Robins and Campbell opened the show with a battle royal, followed by a three round fight between Fred Walker, of Hope, and Erle Johnson of Blytheville. The two exchanged some hard blows with Johnson winning the decision.

The next fight which was a good one was between Bert Mauldin of this city, who made his first appearance in the ring for Hope fans, and proved to be the winner over Jim Stroud, also of this city. Mauldin showed some good boxing form and carries a mighty punch.

The two other preliminary battles were staged between negro fighters in two 3-minute engagements. Promoter Robins announced last night that Johnny Hall, of Little Rock is matched with a black from St.

This Derby Entry Is Busy

It's the busy season down around Louisville and Churchill Downs and one of the reasons is Busy, a three-year-old chestnut colt owned by J. B. Rogers. Busy is the only Derby entry from the Reppess stable. He is the son of Busy American and Peach Blow.

Nats Take Quick Lead By Smooth Play

Washington Senators took a fast start after Walter Johnson got the pitching staff to functioning, and the youngsters and veterans merged into an effective combination.

Washington, May 8.—(P)—The opening of the 1929 season found fans expecting things great of the Washington Senators, and the failed to please. This year things were different. The club, clearly invoiced to a second division, still by its spring showing, in the early games assumed command of the league.

It was only shortly thereafter that hasty prognosticators, basing predictions largely on the work of the Washington staff, began to declare that this year was one for pitchers in both leagues. Large run games soon exploded the theory.

Washington however has been getting good pitching—from Hadley, Brown, Burke, Marberry, and even from Myles Thomas, whom the Yankees didn't want. But there is more to the club than a few curves, and a fast one with a hop on it.

For one, there are the remnants of the team that smoothly glided into pennants in 1924 and 1925. Walter Johnson apparently has kneaded them into something like a ball club again. Sam Rice, who since 1918 has been collecting somewhere around 200 hits a season for the club, again is knocking out his precise singles.

Joe Judge, first baseman, starting his fourteenth year in the majors, is once more chipping around the bag, and is keeping alive his reputation as one of the league's most dangerous batsmen in a pinch.

Then the Washington fans' official chant of "Come on Goose" is pulling forth base hits this year. Goslin, who lead the league sluggers in 1928, has started to find the ball with his vicious swipes.

The old guard and the pitchers, however, are not bearing the entire load of the Washington success. Buddy Myer, at second base, and Joe Cronin, shortstop, are doing very well at making Washington forget the efficiency and potency of Roger Peckinpaugh and Stanley Harris.

Myer once was traded by Washington to Boston for practically nothing in playing talent. He was got back for five good players. During the early games this year, he was among the first five hitters.

Cronin, a skinny kid almost six feet tall, never a .300 hitter in the majors, has proved up as one of the club's most timely hitters. In a recent game between his club and the Yankees Cronin hit a double, triple and home run to win almost singlehanded.

ever it was, would pass over if ignored. But Natalie sensed her mother, had spoken of it to her father, with an admonition to him not to mention it.

It all made her wonder if she hadn't been precipitate in leaving Alan. A letter from him asking and not demanding her return home, would have met with a very different reception than that which this one received.

Her first conclusion about it was quickly formed, Alan's pride was in jeopardy. Oh, yes, divorce was on the increase—she admitted that—but still it was an unpleasant thing to face. And their position—she conceded it would upset their status in Westchester for a while at least, when it became known she had left Alan.

With the open letter in her hand, she hurried up the stairs to her old room, which now belonged to her sister, Florence, intending to send Alan an answer that would bring him to a proper appreciation of her viewpoint.

Modern women no longer needed so firm positions and families keep them in mental bondage, she told herself indignantly. Alan needn't expect her to pull their chestnuts out of the matrimonial fire at the expense of her pride and self-respect.

She was about to sit at the modern desk Florence had rigged up out of boxes, when the younger girl came in, flushed and excited.

“Alan’s Out!”

"Dance Hall" Showing At New Grand Friday

For the second time in his career, Ralph Emerson played in support roles. Olive Borden, who is co-starring with him in "Dance Hall," the all-talking dramatic Radio Picture now at the Grand Theatre.

Emerson first encountered Miss Borden in the icy waters of a bay at three o'clock one chilly morning. They were working in "The Albanian Night Boat" and Olive, who could not swim, was to be thrown off the yacht and rescued by Emerson.

"I had never met her," he said, in relating the story, "but she was a beautiful blonde. Under such circumstances are lasting. Olive is the best of sports."

She proved his statement by coming to the theatre immediately with the request that he direct her in the role of her director, Mel Brown, that she become a blonde for "Dance Hall."

Since she is noted for the beauty of her curly, raven black hair, it was not an easy thing to do, but she readily needed to Brown's wish because he thought the part called for a change.

It is the first time in Emerson's career that she has appeared with hair, freckles.

Her portrayal of a hostess in a large "space de dance" is considered by critics to be the finest she has ever given to the screen. Her voice has a delightful rounded quality that records well, and she is a dancer of unusual skill.

Others in the outstanding cast, besides Timson are Margaret Seddon, Joseph Cawthorn, Lee Moran, Helen Kaiser, Natalie Joyce, Patricia Carr and Tom O'Brien.

And remember—the more you tell, the quicker you sell.

In a sportsman it's Fair Play

in a cigarette it's Taste

POPULARITY IN A SPORTSMAN rests first of all on fair play; in a cigarette on better taste.

CHESTERFIELD'S POPULARITY is fairly won with finer tobaccos, blended and cross-blended to give greater delicacy and richer fragrance.

IT TAKES TIME and is costly to make cigarettes the Chesterfield way, but no other way arrives so surely, so completely at what you want most . . . "TASTE above everything".

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield cigarettes are of finer quality and hence of better taste than in any other cigarette at the price. LIGGETT & MYERS TOBACCO CO.
